

University Circle: Creating a Sense of Place CAPTURE YOUR DNA at University Circle!!

A must-see film for YOU

After 5 years of work, the film University Circle: Creating a Sense of Place will be shown on SUNDAY JANUARY 26 at 2 pm over WVIZ! It is intended for EVERYONE. As fast as we move forward, we need to know where we are coming from. Everyone should watch it the way that suits them best. Some restaurant leaders are planning to turn it on their TVs. In other words, spread the word.

YOU are in the film -- anyone who is on a Board, works or visits an institution, has stepped a foot in the circle, been to a WOW Wednesday, been to a class, listened to music there, paraded the circle there ---been on the board of an institution, should be interested. A quote from someone who saw it at the Baker Nord Center for the Humanities presentation in September 2013: "The best program in Cleveland was presented tonight..... It was such a beautiful project on University Circle, I will want to see it again! Congratulations!" Any individual, family or institution with a TV set should make pop corn, gather friends and turn it on -bars, restaurants-- etc. Or, enjoy it solo. Whatever your inclination, wherever you are, enjoy THAT program on WVIZ. (see WVIZ Program Guide pg 15-16). You won't be disappointed. (see related website www.universitycirclefilm.com.)

Attention: DEWEY's COFFEE HOUSE AND GATHERING PLACE AT SHAKER SQUARE will give you a bag of popcorn if you identify yourself as someone intending to watch this film.

UNIVERSITY CIRCLE: CREATING A SENSE OF PLACE
Sunday, January 26 at 2pm on WVIZ/PBS

This comprehensive look at the history and resurgence of Cleveland's University Circle neighborhood is a legacy film on the growth, public art and architecture of the cultural and educational center. Project Director, Executive Producer and Greater Clevelander Nina Freedlander Gibans and Videographer and Director Jesse Epstein involved some 80 participants and University Circle institutions to help tell the story of this unique area.
